As the curtains fall on this issue of Pixel magazine, appropriately titled Prakriti, we find ourselves reminiscing on the incredible adventure we went on with nature as our muse. The honor of curating Prakriti's captivating pages has been a joyful collaboration, and the heartbeat behind it can be found in the lively halls of Kristu Jayanti College Autonomous. Working on this edition has been an exhilarating experience, providing us with the chance to showcase incredible talent that breathes life into the pages of Prakriti. Every photograph tells a story, and through Prakriti, we have strived to give each narrative the space it deserves.

The ability to cooperate with varied individuals, each with a wealth of knowledge and a unique perspective on nature's beauty, was what made this adventure so wonderful. The exchange of ideas, the shared enthusiasm for environmental preservation and celebration, and the collaborative joy in bringing this edition to life have left an unforgettable imprint on all of us.

We hope that this edition will recreate the same sense of wonder, admiration, and delight that fueled our voyage. Prakriti is more than just a magazine; it is a monument to the collaborative work of devoted individuals who find satisfaction in depicting the complex yet rustic beauty of our natural world which need only a tiny bit of extra attention to decipher.

Finally, we would like to express our heartfelt appreciation to Kristu Jayanti College Autonomous for providing the platform for this edition of Pixel magazine, Prakriti, we hope, will serve as a reminder to love and safeguard the rare beauties that surround us, urging readers to embark on their own adventures of discovery and appreciation for nature's beauty.

Elphinstone Point, located amid the scenic slopes of Mahabaleshwar, is a natural spectacle that transcends the ordinary. The entire scene transforms magically as the first rays of dawn gently kiss the ground. The rising light colourizes the sky with gold and orange hues, casting a pleasant glow on the mist-covered summits. Sunrise fans flock to Elphinstone Point for a front-row seat to nature's daily spectacular. It's a moment when the line between heaven and earth blurs, leaving tourists breathless as the clouds play hide-and-seek with the breathtaking mountains in Mahabaleshwar's heart.

Wilson Point, perched majestically at an altitude of 1439 metres, is Mahabaleshwar's crowning treasure, earning the title of the highest point in this picturesque hill station. Wilson Point, also known as Sunrise Point, attracts early risers and nature lovers who want to see the sun's first rays spread a warm glow over the beautiful surroundings below. The expansive plateau spreads like a natural amphitheatre, with three strategically placed watchtowers beckoning tourists to various vantage points. From these vantage points, one is treated to a stunning panoramic view of Mahabaleshwar, which reveals its lush valleys, dense forests, and undulating hills in a natural symphony.

Pawana Lake, located in the Sahyadri mountain ranges near Pune, proved to be the ideal location for a wonderful camping trip with friends. The sky painted a mesmerising palette of warm hues as twilight fell, setting the stage for a spectacular sunset. Friends gathered at the lake's edge to capture the moment the sun set below the horizon, sending a golden glow across the serene lake. The lake reflected the celestial spectacle, providing a beautiful reflection that doubled the scene's magnificence.

A mesmerising image emerges overhead in the heart of Bangalore as the city bustles with activity. The sky, once a pristine white canvas, morphs into a tapestry of rolling clouds, their edges tinted with grey hues. Against this spectacular backdrop, an eagle soars freely, effortlessly navigating the currents. The distant rumble of thunder vibrates across the air, foreshadowing the impending rain symphony. The eagle appears to revel in the joy of the impending downpour with each beat of its wings, savouring the exhilaration of flying amid the changing weather. The eagle remains unafraid as the rains begin their gradual descent, a majestic silhouette against the evolving cosmic drama—a testament to the untamed spirit that thrives amidst the dynamic beauty of Bangalore's cloudy skies.

Himachal Pradesh changes into a stunning winter paradise as the majestic Himalayas are covered into sparkling snow throughout winter, drawing travellers seeking adventure worldwide. This northern Indian state is a winter hiker's heaven because of its rough terrain, scenic meadows, and snow-capped peaks. During the winter months in Manali, you can see some of the best snowfall views in Himachal Pradesh. Winter sports are particularly attractive to the young tourists who visit Manali. Manali is blessed with scenic views of the snow-capped mountains, vast valleys, raging rivers, and apple orchards.

Kerala backwaters are a network of brackish lagoons and canals lying parallel to the Arabian Sea of the Malabar coast of Kerala state in south-western India. It also includes interconnected lakes, rivers, and inlets, a labyrinthine system formed by more than 900 km (560 mi) of waterways, and sometimes compared to bayous. The network includes five large lakes linked by canals, both man made and natural, fed by 38 rivers, and extending virtually half the length of Kerala state. Kettuvallam (Kerala houseboats) in the backwaters are one of the prominent tourist attractions in Kerala. More than 2,000 of these ply the waterways. The Kerala government has classified the tourist houseboats as platinum, gold, and silver. The backwaters near my ancestral home in Karunagapally, Kollam, Kerala.
